Monthly Market Commentary

Domestically, U.S. equity markets were positive in July, propelled by strong economic reports and robust corporate earnings growth. The market remained somewhat hostage to unfolding tariffs, moving higher on positive developments and then lower on surprise news. Total nonfarm payroll employment rose by 149,000 in July; the unemployment rate decreased to 3.9%. Inflation, as measured by the Consumer Price Index was positive for the month. For the second quarter, the U.S. Real GDP initial estimate was released by the Bureau of Economic Analysis showing the U.S economy increasing at an annual rate of 4.1%.

Developed International and Emerging Markets Equities were positive, but lagged the U.S. during July, as investor sentiment improved despite ongoing international trade disputes, political uncertainty and rising rates. Amid this backdrop, Developed International and Emerging Markets returned +2.5% and +2.2%, respectively.

The Money Market Portfolio returned +0.2% during July.
