Monthly Market Commentary

U.S. equities posted strong gains over the month, which was supported by easing global trade tensions and the end of a partial U.S. Government shutdown. Total nonfarm payroll employment changed little in February (+20,000), and the unemployment rate declined to 3.8%. Inflation, as measured by the Consumer Price Index, increased 0.2% during February. For the fourth quarter of 2018, the U.S. Real GDP initial estimate released by the Bureau of Economic Analysis increased at an annual rate of 2.6%.

Developed International Equities posted strong gains but lagged U.S. equities during the month, extending the early-year rally sparked by hopes around U.S. – China trade negotiations. Gains were fueled by more dovish indications from the U.S. and European Central Banks. Emerging Markets stocks posted modest gains as resurgence in oil prices, upcoming political elections, and uncertainty over approaching stimulus measures in China led to mixed returns.

The Money Market Portfolio returned +0.2% during February.
